Maj. Gen. Charles A. Rollow, the Adjutant General of Alabama, presented Mr. Reeves with a certificate of completion at the end of the seminar.

Ye ole editor went against better judgment last week and made a couple of New Year resolutions. Already I have broken the biggest one of the bunch. Actually I never did right a single time before joining the back-slidders. Well anyway my intentions were very good.

Elba didn't get any of the "free" government money that was passed out recently but I ain't surprised. The book says all we need do is apply on the proper form and we will get our share - well don't you believe that for one minute! It takes a lot of fancy forms and it takes a lot of fancy politicing to get those grants that EVERYBODY is after. Elba just barely got it's forms filled out before the deadline, and had absolutely no time to even figure out just who to politic.

If you are a coffee addict as I am, you are surely concerned when reading of the coming increases in coffee prices. A number of people are urging coffee drinkers to rebel and drink tea or something else. One of these days, I may be forced to join such actions, but right now look for me to just grumble and continue to pay the price.

Congress is wrapped up in funding the reopening of the slaying probe of John F. Kennedy and Martin L. King. $13 million sounds like a lot of money and is to us country boys. If the feds are going to investigate, however, they probably need that much. The director needs a plush office and several secretaries to keep up with his fancy car and driver. Then they need a press secretary with a nice office, several telephones and at least three secretaries. An assistant director, whose main job is telling folks he is the assistant and acts as director when things get hot for the real director, will get two secretaries and an office, but will not use it much because he will move to the director's office - cause the director is in Europe on a study mission. He is following the route James Ray says he took after King was killed. Ac who just happens to be a shapely fun loving female...the story ould go on and on but you already see why they need the Representative Jimmy Holley has pre-filed his bill to construct one courthouse - in New Brockton. A good number of people around the county have expressed approval of the dea and some have spoken out strongly against the deal. If (and this is a mighty big if) the bill makes its way through the House and Senate and we, the people of Coffee County will get a chance to vote yes or no. This way the majority of the people make the decision and this I embrace whole heartedly. When the public votes, surely we can accept the decision - left or right. If it passes - let's accept the fact.

in trouble. The Tigers must face Troy and New Brockton next week, and the locals will have to be in top form to defeat the two powers on the road. A quick glance at Elba's statistics show that James Ray Daniels is leading the team in scoring with a 15.7 average, and in rebounding with a 12.4 average. Daniels is the Tigers' most consistent scorer, hitting in double figures in 7 of 8 games, and is the key to Elba's two forwards rank second and third in scoring and rebounding. Chip Goosby is scoring 9.6 points a game, while pulling down 10.1 rebounds a game, and Terry Barnes is scoring 0.5 points a game while snagging 11.3 caroms per contest Other stats show James Smith scoring 7.7 points a game, Larry Phillips hitting 5.3 points per game, and Willie Lowe

Thus far in the year the Tigers have been a puzzling team, playing great one night and lousy the next. Elba blitzed New Brockton by 20 points one night, then scored 36 points and lost to Luverne. Later on the Tigers scored 76 points to beat Enterprise, then turned around and lost to Brantley. If Coach Daughtry's team can ever develop some consistency they could be big winners.
